CARFAX Announces New Partnership with Origence to Improve Vehicle Lending Process
CARFAX's New Integration with the Origence Consumer LOS Provides Lenders Easy Access to Vehicle History Information.

Centreville, VA – Financial institutions now have better access to CARFAX data through a new partnership between CARFAX, the leader in vehicle history since 1984, and Origence, a CU Direct brand, a leading provider of lending technology and solutions to the financial services industry.

The expanding network of financial institutions using the Origence consumer loan origination system (LOS) for indirect auto loans now has access to CARFAX Vehicle History Reports in just one mouse click. The Origence consumer LOS is a comprehensive loan origination system designed to improve the lending experience for both consumers and lenders for a variety of loan products, including indirect auto loans largely driven by its connection to the CUDL network.

“The landscape of auto finance is changing, and we recognize the value and need for delivering a simplified, streamlined lending process for credit unions and their members,” said Aleks Bogoeski, Vice President of Strategic Alliances for Origence. “As a result, we’ve joined forces with CARFAX to provide auto lenders with the ability to easily access vehicle history information, paving the way for an improved lending experience.”

This new integration follows partnerships between CARFAX and many of the top LOS providers, enabling thousands of auto lenders to seamlessly access CARFAX Vehicle History Reports and the VIN-specific CARFAX History-Based Value within their LOS for use in auto loan underwriting, title research, skip tracing, remarketing, and more.

“For more than 35 years, CARFAX has been helping auto lenders and their customers more accurately assess a specific vehicle’s value based on its installed equipment and unique history,” said David Lackey, CARFAX Banking & Insurance Group General Manager. “Getting an accurate value is important for risk management and avoiding fraud. Working with partners like Origence, we’re transforming the way lenders approach the loan approval process.”

With a robust database of more than 25 billion vehicle history records, CARFAX is the leading provider of vehicle history information and solutions to auto lenders, serving thousands of banks, credit unions, and finance companies nationwide.
